

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND

STRENGTHENS THE TIRED

When the stomach, liver and kidneys are tired and without nerve energy, the body is poorly nourished, suffers lassitude and pain. Paine's Celery Compound is a medicine compounded to restore nerve energy, to strengthen the stomach, liver and kidneys. Read testimonials.

MISS CARRIE G ATKINS, Sag Harbor, N. Y., writes: "For the last two years, I have been in very poor health, with weak stomach, dizzy headaches, no strength, no appetite, and my nerves in such a shattered state that I could not bear any noise. I was under the doctor's care for a long time, but did not get well. One bottle of Paine's Celery Compound has strengthened my nerves very much, and I now feel like another woman. It has helped me wonderfully and I advise all who are weak and nervous to use it."

Also mentioned them.
Alexander MacArthur, author of a successful study of life in the Latin quarter of Paris, which brought to the author both popularity and profit, is also the proud and biographer of Rubinstein. The author lived for two years in St. Petersburg, corresponding for the London press and taking part in some thrilling adventures, but the most singular of the writer's experiences happened in Chicago after the novel had been brought out by a publisher of that city. The book had been so successful that the publisher decided to give the author a dinner, to which a dozen of the leading men of letters in the late city were invited. The guests had assembled when the author was announced.

Through the blue haze of smoke there appeared a handsome young woman attired in evening dress.
"We are expecting Mr. MacArthur," said the host, "Mr. Alexander MacArthur, the novelist."
"So I understand," returned the unexpected guest. "I am Alexander MacArthur."

"You?" asked the publisher.
"Yes, didn't you know? I am Mr. MacArthur, at your service. I have been waiting ever since I left my home in Dublin."

It was only the work of a minute to rearrange matters, and the dinner was a great success.—Saturday Evening Post.

Not a Bribe.
"You say," pursued the chairman of the legislative investigating committee, "that he resorted to no bribery whatever during the campaign, so far as you know?"
"Yes, sir," replied the witness; "that is what I said."

A Tonic Needlers.
Mrs. Hohmbodde—John, dear, while you're down town I wish you'd just call and pay the milliner—$17 the bill is, but if you give her $10—
Mr. Hohmbodde—If I rather settle it in full.
Mrs. Hohmbodde—Well, but I want you to bring me six yards of that lovely stuff from Matchless—I'll get you the pattern—and that will take the other $7. Then I'll just make a memento of the trimmings, that will be about $5 more, and if you love me you know the kind of gloves I want. You've bought them often enough. Now, dear boy, you won't forget?
Mr. Hohmbodde—No, I'll remember; and by the way, I'll take my tonic bottle along and get it renewed. I've felt quite run down of late.

Baron's Excuse.
P. T. Barnum's propensity for practical joking began early to assert itself. Once a man was on trial in a local court for a small misdemeanor. Learning that he had no money to hire a lawyer, Barnum offered to conduct his defense. With great solemnity he made a lengthy plea in which he virtually accused his client of being guilty of half the crimes on the calendar, ending with a recommendation to the mercy of the court on the ground of unsound mind.

Dangerous Eggs.
A young clerk received instructions from the proprietor of a produce house in Front street some days ago to put into a case of eggs a card marked "Quarantined."

The proprietor thought no more about the matter until later in the day, when he was called to the phone by the purchaser.

"I don't want these eggs," he said.
"What is the matter with them?" asked the proprietor.
"They are marked 'Quarantined' and are too suggestive of disease."

PLUMMER RETIRES TOWARD CROCODILE

Was Unable to Advance to Relief of Mafeking.

FRENCH MOVES FORWARD

Boer demonstration of March 16 was to cover movement of Boer guns from Mafeking—British are apprehensive of Boer tactics.

LONDON, March 23.—Colonel Plummer, apparently, has retired to Crocodile Pool, and Mafeking seems further off than ever from relief.

This news was contained in a dispatch from Bloemfontein, dated Monday, March 19, and published in the second edition of The Times. These advices add that the base of the hospital has been brought back to Oudfontein. The correspondent further says the object of the Boer demonstration of March 15 and 16 was to cover the movement of Boer guns from Mafeking.

General French's activity in the Orange Free State may be the preliminary to a forward movement by the order of Lord Roberts of the main army.

A dispatch from Bloemfontein, dated Tuesday, March 22, says President Kruger is reported to have issued a proclamation declaring that Great Britain is in the state and that the Russians have occupied London.

A Springfield telegram published in the second edition of The Times says: "The apparent submissive attitude of the Boer States should be accepted with caution. The large proportion of obsolete inferior weapons being turned in by them to the British is giving the impression that the largest stores of modern Mausers are being concealed."

The Outlook's special correspondent at Cape Town says:

"Feeling is running strong against the Boer States, which are being treated by the British authorities."

Reported Capture of Gatacre.
LONDON, March 23.—No confirmation has been received of a very sensational story emanating from the Boer camp at Kromstad that General Gatacre and his staff, with a number of guns, have been captured by Commandant Olivier.

As a matter of fact, a news telegram from Springfield shows the British to have been there at a date later than that of his alleged capture.

French Fighting Eastward.
LONDON, March 23.—According to a Cape Town dispatch, dated today, General French's cavalry brigade is fighting eastward of Bloemfontein.

Incendiaries at Dawson.
DAWSON, Ga., March 23.—Fire was discovered among the cotton in Perry & Roberts' warehouse at 8 o'clock last night. A box of matches was found near the burning cotton and the cotton from two of the bales, to loosen the cotton, so that they would burn quickly, showing that the fire was of incendiary origin.

Rules for Lent.
All the faithful who have completed their twenty-first year and who have not begun their sixtieth year, and who are not exempted from the obligation of fasting by sickness, hard work or other well-known reasons, are obliged to fast on all the days of Lent, except Sundays.

On those days but one full meal is allowed, which should not be taken before noon.

Custom allows a cup of coffee, tea or thin chocolate, and a small piece of bread or a cracker, to be taken in the morning; and in the evening, a collation, not exceeding the fourth part of an ordinary meal, is allowed. At this collation, butter, cheese, milk, eggs and all kinds of fruit, fish and vegetables are allowed. While the principal meal cannot without grave inconvenience be taken at noon, it is permissible to take the collation in the morning and the dinner in the evening.

Abstinence from the use of flesh is enjoined on all the Wednesdays and Fridays of Lent and on the Saturday of Ember Week and on Holy Saturday.

The use of lard is allowed in cooking. Fish and flesh are not allowed at the same meal, even on Sundays.

Eggs, cheese, milk and butter may be used every day, but abstinence from all of these is recommended on Good Friday.

Persons exempted from the obligation of fasting are not bound by the restriction of using meat but once a day on the days in which the use of meat is permitted by dispensation.

Children over seven years of age are bound by the law of abstinence, unless excused by sickness or other causes.

The paschal time, in which all Catholics who have come to the years of discretion are bound to receive holy communion worthily, extends from the first Sunday of Lent till Trinity Sunday, inclusive. Children over seven years of age are bound by the precept of annual confession. Pastors and parents should see that the children comply with this duty.

The holy season of Lent is a time of prayer, of sorrow for sin, of seclusion from the world and its amusements, and of generous almsgiving.

By a special indulgence granted to the bishops of the United States for ten years, dating from March 15, 1895, working people, who cannot easily observe the common law of the church, are dispensed from the obligation of abstinence on all days of the year except Fridays.

Wednesday, Holy Week and Christmas Eve. This dispensation does not exempt from the additional obligation of fasting, where such exists, nor does it authorize the use of fish and flesh at the same meal. It includes, however, not only the individual workmen in whose favor it is granted, but all the members of their families as well. In return it is expected that those who avail themselves of this indulgence will endeavor to enter into the spirit of the holy season of Lent by voluntary acts of mortification, penance and almsgiving. A most praiseworthy custom is that of abstaining during Lent from stimulants, in honor of the sacred thirst of our divine savior.

Those who entertain any reasonable doubt about their obligation to fast or abstain, ought to apply to their pastor or confessor for advice.

"I think I would go crazy with pain were it not for Chamberlain's Pain Balm," writes Mr. W. H. Stapleton, Hermine, Pa. "I have been afflicted with rheumatism for several years and have tried remedies without number, but Pain Balm is the best medicine I have not held of." One application relieves the pain. The Captain's Distinction.
On one of "Old Hoss" Hoy's trips across the Atlantic the steamer, moving slowly along in a dense fog at about 3 o'clock in the morning, struck on the rocks off Pointe, the light not being visible. Fortunately, nothing more than a scrape for the passengers resulted. Everybody was soon on deck except Hoy, who had been having a pleasant time the night before and had slept all through the trouble. One of his friends sent a steward for him, and at last he appeared, still a trifle befogged. When the facts were explained to him, he jumped fervently in an impromptu praise service which the passengers were holding.

Finally there came a fall in the proceedings, and "Old Hoss" took a hint of it to propose three cheers and a tiger for the captain. This proposition caused much astonishment, and some one ventured to ask on what grounds he based the proposed honor to the captain.

Drawing himself up to his full height, "Old Hoss" replied impressively, "On the ground that he is the only man sailing the Atlantic ocean who could have hit that infernal rock without a light!"—San Francisco Argonaut.

The Shark's Mouth.
No doubt the shark's mouth is placed so much beneath the projecting muzzle, under which also the nostrils lie, that it may serve its proper purpose in the best way. In all records of the habits of the fish we are told that it can and does bite out large chunks of flesh from the dead bodies of whales and even from living victims of its attacks, and it is easily seen that if its mouth was like that of other fishes the necessary leverage would be lacking.

A further reason seems to be that the shark by this peculiar position of its mouth is enabled to turn upon its back to strike and is thus able to deliver its onset from below with more deadly effect.

This formidable strength of jaw is backed up by a most terrible array of teeth, of which in some species there are as many as six rows all around. Each tooth is saw edged and pointed, and some of the largest are as much as two inches in breadth at the base. These he set against the jaws and can be raised by separate muscles at will, so that, as the shark darts upon its prey, they spring out and as a cat's claws are stuck out from its paws. This arrangement will not allow anything once held to return, so that a shark's mouth is a veritable death trap.

A. R. De Flament, editor of the Journal, Dorchester, Ohio, suffered for a number of years from rheumatism in his right shoulder and side. He says: "My right arm at times was entirely useless. I tried Chamberlain's Pain Balm, and was surprised to receive relief almost immediately. The Pain Balm has been a constant companion of mine ever since and it never fails." RAILWAY TIES.

The Vera Cruz and Pacific railway has sent its representative to Italy to obtain laborers to push the construction of the road.

The Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad is equipping its locomotives with electric headlights, to which a current is furnished by a small dynamo directly forward of the smokestack.

The superintendent of the White Pass and Yukon railroad took the snowfall at various points along the line of the railroad for December, with the following results: Glacier, 60 1/2 inches; White Pass, 55 inches; Fraser, 42 1/2 inches; Log Cabin, 7 1/2 inches.

The officials of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railroad have decided to follow the lead of other roads in the matter of providing technical instruction for their employees on the road. The "school on wheels" for engineers, firemen, conductors and brakemen is to be a part of the Rock Island system.
